

Monday

Activity: Combining two or more sentences

Two or more sentences can often be joined together by simply using a conjunction, such as:

because or so but though

Choose one of these conjunctions to join the sentences below:

1. We took our dog to the vet. It was limping.
2. The match was abandoned. We went home.
3. Shall I get you some orange? Would you prefer lemonade?
4. The actor forgot his lines. He was nervous.
5. Alan's boots are clean. Yours are muddy.
6. He didn't win his race. He tried very hard.

Extension:

Write six of your own sentences using a conjunction in each. You can also use although, if or whenever.