

Thursday and FridayLO: I can write an interior monologueSuccess Criteria

- I can show thoughts and feelings of a character.
- I can punctuate my writing correctly.
- I can stay in the first person and use correct past and present tense.
- I can vary sentence structure: short sentences, long sentences, marked sentence openers, questions.

Jun 9-17:32

Based on the film, you are going to write down what the old man was thinking as he played the piano.

You will include his memories and how he feels about them.

Thursday

Here you could include an imaginary dialogue between the two. Remember: new speaker, new line.

Friday

Don't forget to include this shift from the past to the present, from him to his grandson.

For spellings, use an online dictionary.

If you need a synonym, type into a search engine synonym for (and the word) and it will automatically come up with suggestions.

On the next page, I've included how you could start your writing task.

I sat alone at the piano, the only comfort I had these days, since my wife died. As I played, I closed my eyes and remembered all the times we had played the piano together; laughed heartily together; shared our dreams with each other; shared precious moments side by side. Without her I was a broken man. Then, as though she had read my thoughts, she appeared at my side. My heart skipped.
